

After a short stay in the city of Pisa, we crossed the Apennines
and reached the coast
at Piombino. From here we took a boat
to Elba, where we spent a week. The island is very hilly
and the climate
is quite different from that of the mainland. The people are very friendly and welcoming. We spent most of our time walking
in the hills and
visiting the
ancient ruins
of the island.
Elba is a
beautiful place
with its green
valleys and blue sea. The people are very hospitable
and we had a great time
there.

Cheerful and friendly
