

Many items described here have been digitized and are available online at <https://librarycompany.org/lcppapersproject/>.

The archivist and other staff determined during processing that the Library Company's bound accession books and circa-1876 card catalog are still being used as active institutional records. Therefore, they were not processed as part of this collection.

Please note that only the first 150 years of the Library Company's records – 1731 to 1881 – have been processed and fully described in this finding aid. Later materials were processed and described here only when those records were interfiled with earlier records and/or were deemed essential for processing earlier records. Please reach out to Library Company reference staff with questions about unprocessed institutional records dating from 1882 to the present.
