

A vertical grayscale calibration bar consisting of 26 rectangular steps of varying shades, ranging from pure white at the top to pure black at the bottom. The steps are used for color and brightness calibration in printing and imaging.

