MOLIÈRE was right in saying that it was something to be bound, even in calf. A book which is not bound is not a book; it is "a pamphlet," which one forgets in a railroad car or cab, which one lends, which one leaves on a garden seat, where it gets wet, or on a toilet table, where it gets soiled, which the chambermaid, who finds it under a chair, tears up to kindle the fire. Bound, it is another thing. A book bound is a book which one has read, and which one wishes to read again, which one keeps for days of sadness, ennui. It is one of the family, a friend, the friend who never changes, always ready to converse, to instruct and to console.

Dear Sir,

I have the pleasure of acknowledging your favor of Sept 2nd containing

One hundred Dollars for which please accept my thanks.

Yours Very Respectfully

F. W. Christern.

The work of Faine has been sent by order of W. C. Pemberton.
If you don't wish to keep it, I shall willingly take it back, but it may perhaps be well to ask Mr. Pemberton, to select new books only, and to suggest older ones, if he thinks that they are desirable, but is not sure, if they are in the possession of the Library.
