Gentlemen

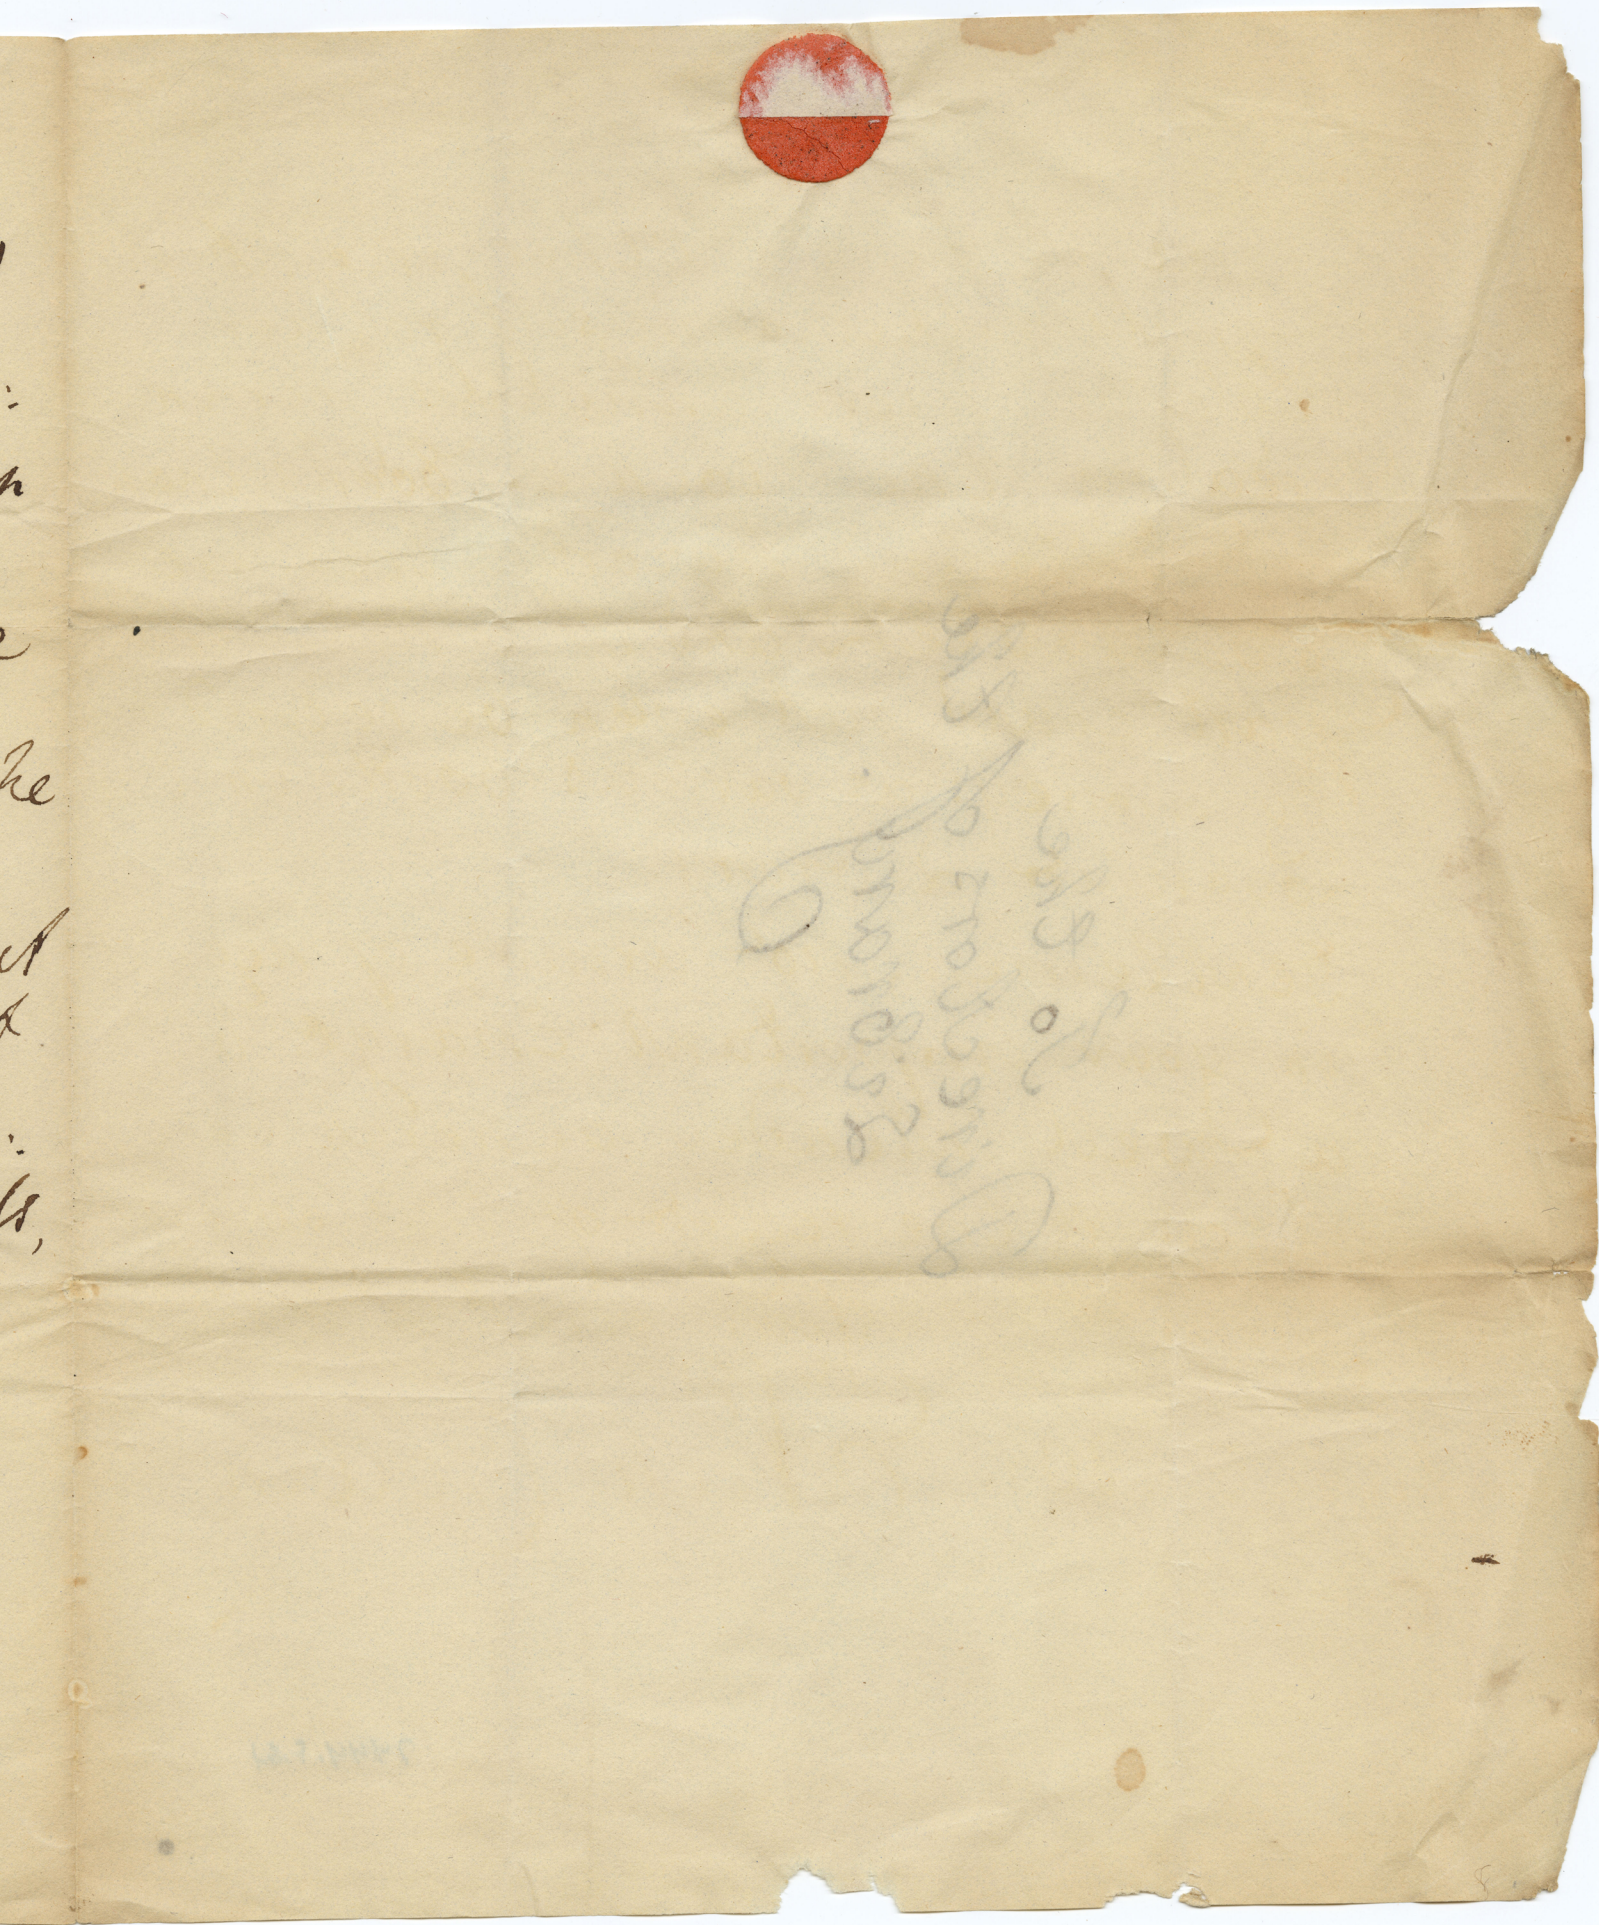

That solicitude for our Library which all the members, and, indeed, all good citizens ought to feel - considering its very great importance for the Public good, induces me to request a more than usual attention to all the means of guarding it from the dreadful accidents of the fires which are become so alarming by the neglects of persons in different and manifold cases. Among these are dangers from candles in stores and magazines; particularly in those that have any combustibles. The benefit arising from ~~hire~~ those under our Library can bear no comparison with even a small

Degree of Danger. Other members would rather, as myself, rather subscribe more annually for increasing the stock of books, than expose to any hazard a treasure so valuable ~ and of which one part could not even be restored by money: as various books in the Loganian Library.

Gentlemen, no surmise of neglect in your important charge. but a well intended general caution is the reason of this address, from your most hble servt

Nov. 5' 1807. Nich. Collin
