

Loyal Publication Society,

No. 853 BROADWAY.

New-York, 1865.

Dear Sir :

The Loyal Publication Society, impressed with the necessity of continuing its operations another year, especially so, as union men in the Rebel States earnestly entreat us to furnish them with loyal documents for distribution among their people. This society being the only organization capable of meeting this demand, it is determined to continue the work. In addition to a re-issue of many of our Publications, approved papers, advocating the Amendment to the Constitution—on Finance—the Material Resources of the Nation, we propose to publish for general circulation in the loyal and disloyal States.

I have enclosed copies of our recent publications.

Respectfully yours,

LE GRAND B. CANNON,

Chairman Finance Committee.
