49. A free Enquiry into the Miraculous Powers, which are supposed to have subsisted in the Christian Church, from the earliest Ages through several successive Centuries. By which it is shewn, that we have no sufficient Reason to believe, upon the Authority of the primitive Fathers, that any such Powers were continued to the Church after the Days of the Apostles. By Conyers Middleton, D. D. 3d Edition. London, 1749.

50. A Review of the Works of the Royal Society of London; containing Animadversions on such of the Papers as deserve particular Observation, in eight Parts; under the several Heads of Arts, Antiquities, Medicine, Miracles, Zoophytes, Animals, Vegetables, and Minerals. By John Hill, M. D. London, 1751.

51. A new Method of Chymistry; including the Theory and Practice of that Art, laid down on Mechanical Principles, and accommodated to the Uses of Life; the whole making a clear and rational System of Chymical Philosophy. To which is prefixed, a Critical History of Chymistry and Chymists, from the Origin of the Art to the present Time. Written by the very learned H. Boerhaave, Professor of Chymistry, &c. in the University of Leyden, and Member of the Royal Academy of Sciences at Paris. London, 1727.

52. Reasons for establishing the Colony of Georgia, with Regard to the Trade of Great-Britain, with Proposals for raising raw Silk, and the great Probability of succeeding therein. By Benjamin Martin, 1733.

53. Liberty; a Poem. By Mr. Thomson. London, 1735.

54. The New Dunciad. A Satyr on the Pedantry, Dullness, and bad Taste of several Writers, Critics, &c. By A. Pope.

55. The History of the British Plantations in America; with a Chronological Account of the most remarkable Things, which happened to the first Adventurers in their several Discoveries of that New World. Part 1. containing the History of Virginia; with Remarks on the Trade and Commerce of that Colony. By Sir William Keith, Bart. London, 1738.

56. An Analytic Treatise of Conic Sections, and their Use for resolving Equations in determinate and indeterminate Problems.
