Now after all this, this [&c.] viz. twelve, &c. doth imply, that the principal Judgment upon the Partition so returned is, Ideo consideratum est per Curiam quod partitio firma & stabilis in perpetuum tenetur: The later two [&c.] are evident.

Jointenants is not good without Deed, albeit it be of Lands, to make Partition by the Statutes of 31 H. 8. cap. 10 and 32 H. 8. cap. 32. because they must pursue that All by Writ de partitione facienda, and a Partition between Jointenants without Writ remains at the Common Law, which could not be done by Parol. And so it is, and for the same Reason, of Tenants in Common. But if two Tenants in Common be, and they make Partition by Parol, and execute the same in Severalty by Livery, this is good and sufficient in Law. And therefore, where Books say, that Jointenants made Partition without Deed, it must be intended of Tenants in Common, and executed by Livery.

Nota; Between Jointenants there is a twofold Privity, viz. in Estate and in Possession: Between Tenants in Common there is Privity only in Possession, and not in Estate: But Parceners have a threefold Privity, viz. in Estate, in Person, and in Possession.
