

present age, we seem universally aiming at perfection ; let us not therefore neglect to perfect the laws, on which our lives and fortunes depend.

F I N I S.