

On the thirty-first day of the month, and first of the week, we had a meeting in the cabin, with near all the ship's company; the whole being near thirty. In this meeting the Lord, in mercy, favoured us with the extendings of his love.

The second day of the sixth month. Last evening the seamen found bottom at about seventy fathom.

This morning fair wind, and pleasant: and as I sat on deck, my heart was overcome with the love of Christ, and melted into contrition before him: and in this state, the prospect of that work, to which I have felt my mind drawn when in my native land, being in some degree opened before me, I felt like a little child; and my cries were put up to my heavenly Father for preservation, that in a humble dependance on him, my soul may be strengthened in his love, and kept inwardly waiting for his counsel.

This afternoon we saw that part of England called the Lizard.

Some dunghill fowls yet remained of those the passengers took for their sea-store: I believe about fourteen perished in the storms at sea, by the waves breaking over the quarter-deck; and a considerable number with sickness, at different times.—I observed the cocks crew coming down the Delaware, and while we were near the land; but afterward, I think I did not hear one of them crow
