

it is done in heaven, "If ye abide in me," faith Christ, "and my words abide in you, "ye shall ask what ye will in my name, "and it shall be done unto you."—Now we know not what to pray for as we ought, but as the Holy Spirit doth open and direct our minds, and as we faithfully yield to its influences, our prayers are in the will of our heavenly Father, who fails not to grant that which his own spirit, through his children, asketh;—thus preservation from sin is known, and the fruits of righteousness are brought forth by such who inwardly unite in prayer.

How weighty are our solemn meetings when the name of Christ is kept holy?

"How precious is that state in which the children of the Lord are so redeemed from the love of this world, that they are accepted and blessed in all that they do." R. Barclay's Apology, p. 404.

How necessary is it that we who profess these principles, and are outwardly active in supporting them, should faithfully abide in divine strength, that "As He who hath called us, is holy, so we may be holy in all manner of conversation." 1 Pet. i. 15.

If one professing to be influenced by the spirit of Christ, proposeth to unite in a labour to promote righteousness in the earth, and in time past he hath manifestly deviated from the path of equity, then to act consistent with this principle, his first work is to make restitution so far as he may be enabled; for if he attempts to contribute toward a work intended
