

full of marvelous colors. We walked up and down the upper deck and wrote a little after supper. At last at 8.30 we saw the lights of Seattle. We could see the Smith Building 2nd highest in U.S. brilliantly lighted and also the whole side of one building with different colored light going on and off stood out plainly. We disembarked and a customs officer went thru our suitcases and trunks. While we were waiting for the trunks we heard a dictaphone talking about tapes and hotel buses being on the first floor, in a very loud voice. We then got into one and drove to the New Washington hotel and went to bed.

SEATTLE WATER FRONT FROM ACROSS ELLIOTT BAY

Puget Sound Cruises; Seattle

Wed. August 3rd

I slept late so the boys had to say goodbye through the bathroom door. They are going down to California from here where the meet uncle Sam and take a auto trip coming home by way of the Grand Canyon. Dad went with them to the station and after breakfast Aunt E. and I went to buy souvenirs while mother took a nap. We went to her everlasting jewelry store and bought me a Seattle spoon. I then bought an Indian basket for a Xmas present and she went to the "5 and 10" and got stockings and shoebrushes. After dinner in the hotel