But because in divers parts of that Kingdom either for Want of Churches are not sufficiently or where there be Churches, there are wantinge such Ministers, or Curates, as can read, or interpret Divine Service unto the people, specially in the Irish Tongue. Our pleasure is that our of lands there be a moderation in charging the poore of the said Statute until such Churches be built, repaired, and sufficient Ministers or Curates given to supply the same, or some provisionall course taken for repairing, or at least reading the Liturgie in the Irish Tongue, where it shall require: And to that end: Wee doe hereby require you to give speciall charge in our name unto the Archbishops, and Bishops of that Kingdom that they take a gentle course, to see the said Defect supplied in their severall Diocesses. Dated at our Mannor of Greenwich the fift of June in the twelveth yeare of our Reigne of great Britaine, France, and Ireland Anno Domini
