

and o<sup>r</sup> Couertell here find grounded upon iust, and worthy respects, so continue here Demons vnto them: any former Dixemens to be Contrary notwithstanding.

2 +

13 And whereas we are informed, that some question is made, yow and to what use the money collected upon the penaltie by Statute, of not coming to the Church, shall be employed being by the express wordes of the Statute, limited, and appointed for the relief of the poor. Now would I pray y<sup>e</sup>, and o<sup>r</sup> Couertell, together wth the rest of the Cuberte of of that Kingdom, to understand: That the meaning of the Statute is not, to take the penaltie imposed for refusall from one refusaunt, and to give it to another like afflicted in Religion: but that it shall be bestowed upon such poor as resort to the Church, according to o<sup>r</sup> Lawe established in that behalf. And in Warrises we see that are fine, or non-suites shall be paid to the Church. And thus it fit that it be employed for the poor, and wages of such workmen and laborers, as shall set on works to amend, and re-build the Churches, which be now decayed, and ruined, and so make them meet, and fit places for the godly, and religious Cuberte of that Kingdom to resort unto. And doe require y<sup>e</sup> to put it in execution accordingly.

14

And forasmuch as it is expedient that care be taken, for the breeding, and education of such of the eldest Comtes of the Nobilitie of that Realme, as being now under years, and are to become Barons, and Bishops of that Realme Our pleasure is, that for their better instruction in Religion and Civilitie, y<sup>e</sup> doe give order that the Lo: of Barries Grandchild being of the age of 13 years: the Lo: Viscount Gormanston's eldest Comte: the Lo: Courties Ince Comte: the Lo: of Delvins Comte, and give: the Lo: of Trimblestones Comte, and give: the Lo: of Danboines