

that he pay three prices for the lost volume, that is 15/- and if he chuses, he may have the remaining 4 vols. for 12/- or leave them.

November 1, 1789.

Benjamin Gibbs, Benjamin Pultney and John Traraghan the Committee Met, and taking into consideration the damage done to a volume of "Edwards's Gleanings of Natural History, part 3rd." in the loss of all the Copper plate prints. Resolve, that John Sitgreaves, the gentleman in whose hands the said volume was, when the damage was sustained, shall either replace the volume with another in good condition, or pay two English Guineas for the volume damaged, or take the sett consisting of three volumes, and pay six English Guineas, being no more than the cost of the sett.

Laid Nov. 15, 1789.

for the damage done.

£3¹⁰ 0

February 5, 1789.

Charles Biddle, Esq. having detained a book, entitled, Modern Europe, vol. 2nd. longer than allowed by the Rules of the Library, and Amos Forster having detained a Volume of the Universal Magazine, also longer than the said Rules allow of, - The Committee in consideration of the circumstances attending the above cases, are of opinion, that the former on pay-

Charles Biddle's

fine was paid

June 1, 1790 -

£0¹⁰ 0