

Doctor Richard Farmer having lost the third volume of "Lord Chesterfield's Letters," consisting of four volumes, valued at 5 each. - It is determined, that he pay fifteen shillings for the lost volume, or take the 3 volumes and pay thirty shillings.

Paid March 6, 1790-

for the lost volume,

N^o

£0"15"0

Robert S. Jones having lost the "Life of Eugene," which he borrowed Nov. 20, 1783, the Committee determine that he pay fifteen shillings, being three prices on the value of the book lost.

William Lane having lost, "Worlidge on Cider," a Duodecimo, it is determined that he pay fifteen shillings, being three prices on the Vol.^o

Paid Dec. 20, 1790-

for the lost book.-

N^o 13~

£0"15"0

At a Meeting of the Committee, April 30, 1791.

Cornelius Barnes having damaged one volume of Abbeys Raynald's History of America, - it is determined he shall either replace the damaged volume with a new one, or pay twelve shillings & leave the damaged volume, or take the whole set and replace it with a new one. (N^o 1170.)

Paid June 13, 1791-

for the damage done.~

£0"12"0

John Woodward on the share of George Bullock having lost one volume of the Universal Magazine, it is determined that he pay fifteen shillings for the lost volume, or replace it with a new one.

Replaced by a

New Volume.

~~~~~