

to working, to introduce and perfect such an

The present building was opened for use on the 24th of February last. It took less than a year to build, including the ^{removal of} taking down the old house, and the lot of ground. The total cost of its erection, its furnishing, filling up of and the moving of the books, in fact, that was necessary to put it in complete working order and not with less than the mentioned nearly to amount of disbursement at least $10,000. The building, however, has been about 100,000 leaving 25,000 or 30,000 of the building to be completed. The building was in a very poor state of repair when it was taken down. It was a two-story building with a gable roof. The walls were made of brick and the floors of wood. The building was in a very poor state of repair when it was taken down.

The building was in a very poor state of repair when it was taken down. It was a two-story building with a gable roof. The walls were made of brick and the floors of wood. The building was in a very poor state of repair when it was taken down. It was a two-story building with a gable roof. The walls were made of brick and the floors of wood. The building was in a very poor state of repair when it was taken down.

