proudly we hail’d at the twilight’s last gleaming, Whose stripes and bright foe’s haughty host in dread silence re-poses, What is that which the havoc of war and the battle’s confusion, A home and a tween their loved home and the war’s desolation; Blest with victory and traitor that dares to defile

The flag of her stars and the stars, thro' the perilous night, O'er the ramparts we watch'd, were so breeze, o'er the towering steep, As it fitfully blows, half country they'd leave us no more! Their blood has wash'd out their foul peace, may the heav'n rescued land Praise the Power that hath made and pre-page of her glory, By the millions unchain'd who our birth-right have gallantly streaming; And the rocket's red glare, the bombs bursting in teal's, half dis- closes! Now it catch-es the gleam of the morn-ing's first footstep's pol-lu-tion; No ref-uage could save the hire-ling and served us a na-tien. Then con-quer we must, when our cause it is gained, We will keep her bright bazon for-ev'er un-stain'd:

slave From the ter-ror of flight or the gloom of the grave, just,
And this be our mot-to, "In God is our trust."
CHORUS.

TREBLE.
And the star spangled banner in triumph shall wave
While the land of the free is the home of the brave.

ALTO.
1st. Oh! say, does that star spangled banner yet wave, O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!

2nd. 'Tis the star spangled banner Oh! long may it wave, O'er the land of the brave!

3rd. And the star spangled banner in triumph doth wave, O'er the land of the brave!

4th. And the star spangled banner in triumph shall wave, O'er the land of the brave!
