

66
St A. No 953. &c." where the decrees fully appear.

Mr Lewis was also a capable and practical Conveyancer and Scrivener, and was master of several languages besides the German and English; speaking and writing them all with great facility.

He was a member of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania Ancient York Masons, and of other societies of the day in Philadelphia; also a member of Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church of Philadelphia.

He was a gentleman of decided literary tastes, a lover of books, and all antiquarian matters; cultured, well read, and most polite and agreeable in his manners and conversation.

The Office of the Prothonotary of the Court of Common Pleas, was at that period located in the Dwelling-House occupied by the Prothonotary; on the North side of Market Street, sixth house above sixth st, old number 243 Market street.

Mr Lewis' name appears in the old